JUSTICE TO WHOM JUSTIC IS DUE. TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." Six,-In the report of the pole match appearing in your issue of Wednesday last, the writer in his introduction deals generally with what the A. & S. Highlanders have done since their stay amongst us in the fostering and origination of the many and various sports now in vogue in of the game of golf in this Colony. In this statement he is hardly correct. If I romember rightly, the gentleman to whom the credit belongs of having originated the idea of a Golf Club in Hongkong, or at all events of having put that idea into practical form, was not Lieut: Thorburn but Mr. John Andrew. He it was who first sounded certain likely members as to the formation of such a Club: he it was who advertised in the local papers calling the meeting; and he it was, if I mistake not, who noted Lieut. Thorburn has donbtless done much to the credit for the inauguration of the Club andoubtedly belongs to Mr. John Andrew .- i am;
